USAGE & SAFETY

Have fun & Always Play Safe!

USAGE AND SAFETY: READ THOROUGHLY PRIOR TO USE. This product is designed solely for adult use and personal enjoyment. Not every product is appropriate for every person. Use of proper judgment regarding your individual experience, health, and capacity to engage in the use of these products is required to ensure a safe and pleasurable experience. Please heed the following:

1. Usage Instructions: Never exert pressure on the product to force insertion. Due to the size of this product, it is of utmost importance to use it reasonably and safely. Initiate usage incrementally while considering both the length and girth of the product. Halt usage immediately if you experience discomfort or pain. This product should only be utilized as a sexual aid while exercising sound judgment, as it was intended. Do not use these products beyond your level of experience and comfort. Inappropriate usage could lead to mental and physical injury or harm. Do not use these products unless you are entirely confident that the dimensions (length and girth) and form are comfortable and safely within your personal limits and are certain that no harm will result from use. If in doubt, do not use these products without consulting a medical professional to ensure the suitability of the product for safe use.
2. Medical Conditions: Use of these products is not recommended for anyone experiencing physical or mental health issues, who are pregnant or may be or become pregnant, health issues related to oral, rectal, or vaginal wellness, respiratory or heart conditions, physical or mental self-harm, or substance abuse. You are advised to seek medical advice prior to use if you have a history of surgery in the mouth, colon, rectum, or vagina, hemorrhoids, fissures, heart or respiratory conditions, substance abuse, or any related medical conditions.
3. Do Not Use If Damaged: Our products are made of the highest quality materials and workmanship. Products may be damaged by shipping, modification, abuse, misuse, failure to keep product clean and properly stored, exposure to high temperatures, freezing, and chemicals. If you intend to use this product for oral, vaginal, or rectal insertion, carefully inspect the entire product before each use for damage, including but not limited to, cracks, flaking, spalling, splitting, deformation, separation, discoloration, fading, temperature, contamination, mold, fungus, bacteria, and residues. Do not use any product for oral, vaginal, or anal insertion if found to be damaged in any way. Do not modify product. Failure to heed these warnings subjects you to substantial risk of serious bodily injury, including but not limited to emergency medical treatment to dislodge misused products, treat infections, perforations, fissures, and hemorrhoids.
4. Choking Hazard: Oral insertion of product may present a choking hazard. Insertion of product beyond comfort may block airway causing you to choke and damage tissue in the mouth and throat.
5. Packer Soft Formula: Never use any product manufactured in the custom firmness option "Packer Soft" for insertion. Although our company provides Packer Soft toys, it is crucial to note that these items are strictly intended for novelty purposes and should not be utilized for insertion. The term "packing" describes the act of using a packer to create the appearance and sensation of having a penis in one's crotch area.
6. Warming or Cooling Product: Use caution if warming or cooling product before use. If warming the product, running the product under warm tap or filtered water is recommended. When warming the product for rectal use, it is generally recommended to ensure the product is at or slightly above room temperature. Room temperature is typically considered to be around 68-77°F (20-25°C). It's important to avoid extreme temperatures that could cause discomfort, burns, or damage to sensitive tissues. When warming the product for vaginal use, it is generally recommended to use product that is at or close to body temperature. Normal body temperature is around 98.6°F (37°C). Warm or lukewarm products are often considered safe and comfortable for vaginal use. When cooling the product for either rectal or vaginal use, do not cool product lower than 50 Degrees Fahrenheit. Always test the temperature of the product before insertion.

reduce the risk of injury. As not all lubricants have been tested with our products, it is suggested to perform a spot-test with any lubricant on the base of the toy that will not be inserted, to check for any potential adverse reaction with the product material.
